Dr. Eugene Poston

Dear Alumni:

Progress has been the theme around Gardner-Webb College during the past year. We enrolled over 1,000 students. The trustees entered a million dollar plus campaign with Mr. R. Patrick Spangler of Shelby as National General Chairman. The campaign will be a success. The college adopted its first budget of over a million dollars. An A.A. Degree Nursing Education program and an I.B.M. Data Processing School have been added to the curriculum. Approximately 1,450 new applications have come in for the coming year. A campus center, a men's dormitory, and the covering of the swimming pool are under construction. The Boiling Springs Baptist Church is building an educational building with a sanctuary to follow. Plans are being made for the stadium, a classrooms building, a fine arts center, and a chapel-religious activities center.

The following buildings have been named recently:

The Bost Physical Education Building (For the Bost family of Shelby)
The A. T. Withrow Science Building (For A. T. Withrow of Charlotte)
The Lutz-Yelton Dormitory (For the Lutz-Yelton families of Shelby)
The Charles I. Dover Campus Center (For Charles I. Dover of Shelby)
The Spangler Stadium (For the late Ernest Webb Spangler and his family of Shelby)
The J. R. Dover, Jr. Chapel (For the late J. R. Dover, Jr. of Shelby)
There are many memorial opportunities left and some families are working on them.

Gardner-Webb College is calling upon her alumni for their support. If we support our Alma Mater sufficiently, we can lead her into a first rate four-year college with "The Extra Dimension—Christian Higher Education."

A recent color film entitled "The Extra Dimension" has just been released. It is available for churches, civic groups, clubs etc. Please contact the college to arrange a showing.

Please come to see us.

Sincerely yours,

ABOUT THE COVER . . .

Gardner-Webb College has produced many missionaries, but was fortunate on the night of the Alumni Banquet in May to have three of them together. Shown talking things over are Miss Faye Tunmire, '48, Miss Marjorie Bridges, '48, and Miss Bertie Lee Kendrick, '41. Miss Tunmire serves in the Phillipines and is from Rt. 2, Granite Falls; Miss Bridges, of Spindale, served three years in Hawaii until ill health forced her return and Miss Kendrick of Henrietta, served 20 years in Hawaii as a foreign missionary and is now "on loan" to the Hawaii State Convention.

College Officials Call It Successful

Gardner-Webb College's March 20-22 Convocation began a campaign for $1,125,000 which has continued into the summer unabated in work and brimming with numerous successful drives in Cleveland County.

With the drive now nearing the $1 million mark, college officials can look back at the convocation with much appreciation.

Well planned and carried out with weather serving as the only kink in otherwise excellent conditions, the event attracted thousands of persons to the campus. Many of these had never seen the dramatic change made in the outward appearance of the college during the past decade. This alone meant much to the college, states Dr. Eugene Poston, president.

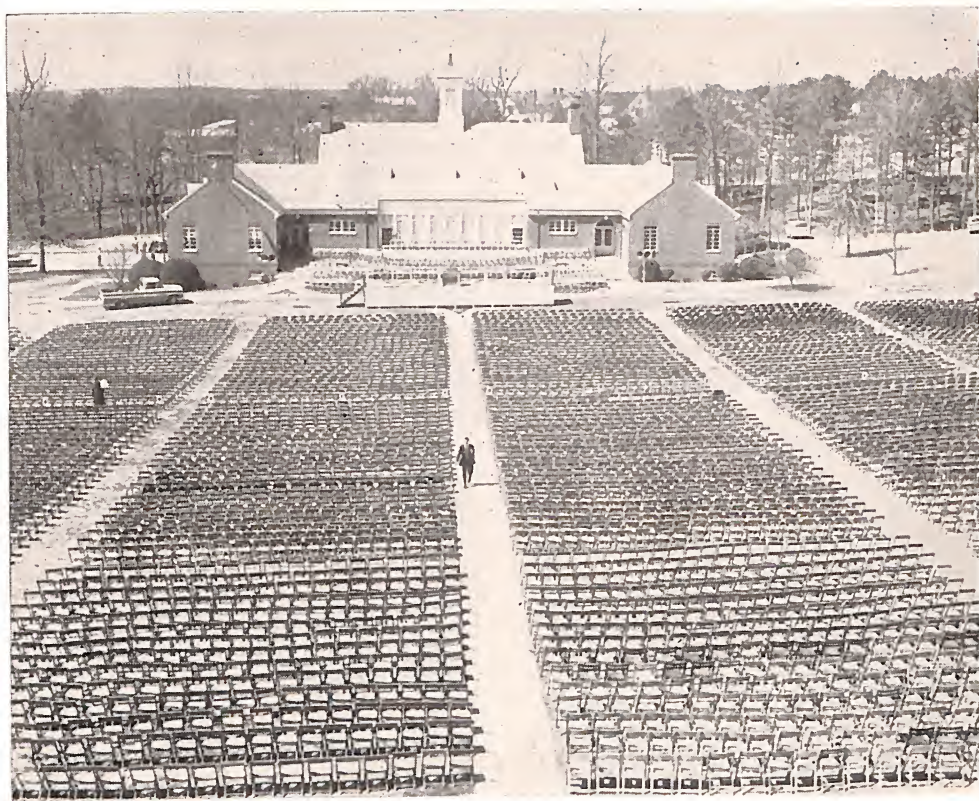

The appearance of U.S. Representative Julia Butler Hansen, Governor Dan K. Moore, D. W. Brosnan, president of Southern Railway Co. and Dr. T. W. Wilson of the Billy Graham Evangelistic Crusades assured success of the historic occasion.

Mrs. Hansen, of the State of Washington, spoke on the morning of March 20, Governor Moore spoke the evening of March 20, Dr. Wilson spoke the after-

LUTZ-YELTON OFFICIALS NAME DORMITORY

One of the two new dormitories for men at G-W will be named the Lutz-Yelton Dormitory by four Shelby businessmen.

J. Ray Lutz, Lloyd L. Lutz, Flay Oren (Red) Champion and Paris L. Yelton representing the Lutz-Yelton Companies and it's stockholders have made a substantial donation to the college's $1,125,-000 campaign, says R. Patrick Spangler, general chairman. Spangler went on to say that the dormitory located between the A. T. Withrow Science Building and Bost Physical Education Building will be named in honor of the organization headed by these men.

The following are stockholders: Robert H. Lutz, Ray Webb Lutz, William D. Lutz, J. P. Henderson, W. A. Pernell, Bob Yelton, Don Yelton, Mrs. Lynn Lutz Carpenter, Gary Roberts, Charles Mauney, and Mr. & Mrs. Joe Hamrick.

The new Lutz-Yelton Dormitory is constructed to accommodate 100 men. Constructed of solid masonry, the three and one-half story building was completed in 1963 and occupies a prominent position on a sloping hill adjacent to the main quadrangle of the college campus. There is an additional men's dormitory under construction adjacent to the Lutz-Yelton Dormitory.

"These four outstanding Cleveland County businessmen have expressed through their actions a firm belief in the future of Gardner-Webb College," said Dr. Poston.

All four of these men are Baptists, members of the Shelby First Baptist Church and natives of Cleveland County. J. Ray Lutz and Paris Yelton were in business together as early as 1929 and in 1930 Lloyd and Ray Lutz founded the Auto Inn.

CITY OF SHELBY EXPRESSES CONFIDENCE IN G-W WITH $687,868 IN GIFTS

City of Shelby leaders in Gardner-Webb College's expansion program have sent their campaign $15,418.74 pass the $150,000 goal. Immediately after co-chairmen, Hoyt Bailey and Harvey Hamrick, completed tallies of their organization's successful campaign, R. Patrick Spangler, national general chairman rose to tell the gathering in the college's O. Max Gardner Building just how difficult the task had been.

"Before you people started working we had already raised $522,450 in the City of Shelby. We knew this $150,000 goal would be one of the toughest ones in the entire campaign and its wonderful you have made it," Spangler told the leaders. He went on to say Shelby's total gifts now amount to $687,868.74. This broken down came in this way from Shelby residents: $223,700 from Gardner-Webb trustees, $172,975 from Gardner-Webb Advisors, $100,275 through Leadership Gifts headed by Robert Forney, '31, $25,500 from other special gifts and the $165,418.74 through general organization and special gifts.

Lagging by $12,132 on June 1, Shelby's general organization voted to hold one more report session and June 14 justified the move, reporting $27,590. Of this amount $4,325 came from general solicitation, $1,500 from special gifts headed by William Humphreys and $19,600 turned in by Bailey as special gifts.

Bailey and Hamrick join with several other successful chairmen of drives completed in the $1,125,000 campaign. The Boiling Springs area under Jim Beason surpassed its $26,000 goal by nearly $3,000, Robert Forney's Leadership Gifts Committee topped its $125,000 goal by over $13,000, college trustees passed a $400,000 goal by $40,470, college advisors set a goal of $200,000 and pledged over $237,000 and the faculty, staff, administration and Slater Food Service employees at the college passed their $20,000 goal by $10,275.

Annual Dedication Is To Mr. Stacy

The 1965 edition of The Anchor was dedicated in May to Paul John Stacy, assistant professor of biology at Gardner-Webb College for 24 years.

Mr. Stacy

has been dedicated to Mr. Stacy. The first time was in 1945.

Professor Stacy is a graduate of Duke University and has done additional studies at Duke.

Upper Cleveland Tops Its Goal

Upper Cleveland County nearly doubled its goal of $15,000 for Gardner-Webb College's program of expansion. The area reported $28,633 during its final report session July 1.

Ralph Spangler was chairman of the successful drive in which $16,633 came in from special gifts and general organization work and $12,000 from a special gift.

Jim Cline headed the general organization and James Petty was chairman of the special gifts committee. John Washburn's team led the general organization with $2,095 reported followed by Hill Dameron's team with $1,970. T. S. Putnam's Division "A" in Lawndale was the leading division with $6,030 and second was Robert Borders' division in Waco-Belwood-Fallston with $4,815.

LET'S TALK GARDNER-WEBB COLLEGE

Some lines from a sonnet "Perspective," by that genial philosopher, Irwin Edman, seem particularly appropriate for this occasion.

Remember, there were ages before this
Nor do we breathe an epilogue to time
Today is yesterday, it is tomorrow
It is a dusk, a dawn, a death, a birth.

Today is the sum of all our yesterdays, the past projected into a living hour. To many people history seems far away, but it can be near at hand, in time and it is always near at hand in impact, when we think about institutions and ideas and practices that have blossomed across the decades or ages and are a part of the current scene. Gardner-Webb College's past is a story of curiosity, of a stubborn and courageous will to find answers to problems—to open new paths or widen old paths in education and human welfare.

Mr. McGraw

Another tradition so simple that it is not often noted is the vital tradition of work and enterprise. This college was not built by lazy people. Nor was it built in a day. We at Gardner-Webb are a part of the American tradition of the strenuous life.

Work as a means, not an end, for those before us, and here we come with Hope, allied with the belief in progress. Imbedded in it is an optimism that could explode into wild exaggeration and booming, but which, as we review it, could also stand up in the face of cruel disappointment and ordeal. To be sure, through much of our past, restlessness has characterized us, but this has all brought about some schooling in tolerance; the record is not without blemishes but we will all argue that "this" kind of college has helped us to weather a good many storms of intolerance, hate, and the fears that feed upon ignorance.

We in this country, whether we agree or not, must understand that underlying the founding of a system of education was not only a faith in education as an avenue to social progress, but more: a belief in "universal" education as a means of meeting the needs of our democratic society.

Our educational system has never stood still. Gardner-Webb College has never stood still.

Even as we contemplate the four-year program we must look even further. For one day, there must come a time in which we must weigh what we have done, are doing and will do in the balances.

Yes, those who follow will read the record and make a judgment as to the worth of our part in the College's future. Every alumnus should be vitally interested and concerned for the success of our work and be ready to share in its completion.

The campaign currently underway is meeting with good success. It needs the participation of all of us if it is to be a real success. Resolve now to be a part of it.

Thomas J. McGraw

COLLEGE HONORS FOUR CITIZENS

Awards Given Outstanding Students

A number of G-W students were honored during Awards Day ceremonies in May.

Winning language awards for outstanding work in a foreign or classical language were Melvin Roscoe Lutz, Jr. of Lenior who won the President's Award in Greek, Melody Ann Kirschner of Rock Hill, S. C., the Latin Award, Dianne Saunders of Lincolnton, the French Award, and Vivian Bridges of Macon, Georgia, the Spanish Award.

Barbara Bridges of Rt. 5, Shelby won the Mathematics Award, John Toms of Rt. 2, Bostic, the Physics Award, and Stephen Poston of Boiling Springs, the Chemistry Award.

Ronald Leigh of 518 Dover St., Shelby, won the Social Studies Award with certificates of recognition going to Joyce Watkins of Rt. 3, Gaffney, S. C., Donald Takush of Babylon, N. Y., and Patricia Vinesett of Rt. 2, Shelby.

David Charles Traynham of High Point was awarded the "Most Outstanding Music Student" Award.

Drama Awards included top honors for Diane Patrick of Blacksburg, S. C. as the "Actress of the Year" and Bill Matthews of Marion as "Actor of the Year." Numerous other awards in drama were presented, including certificates to students who took part in "The Merry Widow," a Spring musical.

STADIUM-FIELDHOUSE ARE NAMED

Spangler Brothers Boost Athletic Program

A football stadium and track will be constructed at Gardner-Webb College within the next two years and will be known as the Spangler Memorial Stadium, announces Dr. E. Eugene Poston, president of the college.

The fully equipped athletic facility will be named by R. Patrick Spangler and Earl Webb (Bud) Spangler, both of Shelby, in memory of their father, Ernest Webb Spangler and in honor of their mother, Mrs. Verna Patrick Spangler.

R. Patrick Spangler, presently serving as overall chairman of the college's major 60th Anniversary Phase of the Decade of Advance program and his brother, Earl (Bud) Spangler, a former student at Gardner-Webb, are active supporters of the college. Pat Spangler is also on the college board of advisors.

The Spangler brothers own and operate Spangler and Sons Concrete Co. in Shelby, Spangler Ready Mix Concrete Co. in Kings Mountain and the Shelby Sand and Stone, Inc. of Shelby.

Earl Spangler, a 1946 alumnus of the college, attended the University of North Carolina. He is vice-president of First Federal Savings and Loan in Shelby, a Kiwanis Club member, member of the Shelby First Baptist Church and is married to Evelyn Harrill Spangler. The couple has four children.

Pat Spangler played a major role in Cleveland County's industrial development through his work with the Shelby Chamber of Commerce. State-wide recognition of his ability came when Gov. Terry Sanford appointed him in 1963 to gather Shelby businessmen for North Carolina Day at the World's Fair. He also served as a Trade Fair delegate to Europe and has been active on other state level posts.

A Rotarian, Mason, and Shriner, Spangler was awarded the "Citizen of the Year" award by Shelby Lions in 1963. He is married to the former Eloise

V. F. Hamrick Gives Large Gift

A former assistant athletic director at Wake Forest College has given Gardner-Webb College a substantial stock gift to be used in construction of an athletic fieldhouse adjacent to the proposed new Spangler Memorial Stadium.

V. F. Hamrick, 80, of 933 W. Warren St. in Shelby, was told June 14 during a final report meeting of the Shelby area campaign, that trustees of the college have voted unanimously to name the fieldhouse in his honor.

Plans are now being drawn for a stadium and fieldhouse which will be located south of the Bost Physical Education Building on the present athletic field. R. Patrick Spangler and his brother, Earl Webb (Bud) Spangler, both of Shelby, gave a substantial gift to the college stadium fund and named it in honor of their mother, Mrs. Verna Patrick Spangler and in memory of their father, Ernest Webb Spangler.

Hamrick attended Wake Forest College in 1904-1908 and while there served under Coach Dick Crozier as assistant athletic director. His interest in athletics is keen and for many years he was one of the most avid fans of Shelby's professional baseball teams. "I realize the need of more physical activity in our schools and colleges and have never lost my love of athletics," Hamrick said.

A regular contributor to the Wake Forest athletic program and to his church, Hamrick said, "I could not resist the opportunity to assist a growing college like Gardner-Webb and am proud to be a part of such a worthy cause as higher Christian Education."

Young and they have five children. The family church membership is at First Baptist Church of Shelby.

Their father, Ernest Webb Spangler, was a well known figure in Shelby for

Achievers Cited

Four outstanding Cleveland and Rutherford counties citizens were honored by Gardner-Webb College during commencement exercises.

Rev. C. C. Crow of Shelby and a native of Rutherford County, Bertie Lee Kendrick, '41, of 102 Georgia St. Spindale; Laura Cornwell and D. W. Royster both of Shelby, were presented citations for their contributions to area, state, church and civic life.

Rev. Crow was born in 1900 in Rutherford County, is a graduate of Hollis High School and Wake Forest College. The retired Baptist minister completed high school when 30 years old, married and with two children. He has been pastor of 14 churches in the Sandy Run, Green River and Kings Mountain Associations, was moderator of the Sandy Run Association in 1960-1962 and of the Kings Mountain Association in 1952-1954. Rev. Crow was named "Rural Minister of the Year" in 1952 by the Progressive Farmer.

Miss Kendrick is a missionary to Hawaii. Born in Henrietta, she graduated from the Henrietta-Caroleen High School in 1927, Boiling Springs Junior College in 1941, Furman University in 1943 and went on for seminary training at the New Orleans Baptist Seminary.

She has worked in foreign missions for the Southern Baptist Convention for 20 years and is presently "on loan" to the Hawaii State Convention. Miss Kendrick helped in the development of three Baptist Churches on the Maui Island of Hawaii and has served in other capacities on the mission field.

Miss Cornwell was principal of Marion School in Shelby for 25 years and later went to Hawaii where she served as principal of a Baptist School for eight years.

A member of Shelby's First Baptist Church, Miss Cornwell is a graduate of Woman's College of U.N.C. in Greensboro and has done additional study at Duke, U.N.C. at Chapel Hill, A.S.T.C. and the Univ. of Calif.

Active in church work, she is also vice-president of the Hoe & Hope Garden

College Calendar Is Revised

Gardner-Webb College is making a dramatic change in its 1965-1966 academic calendar.

The school year will begin Aug. 25 with the arrival of first year and transfer students and the first semester will be concluded with examinations before Christmas holidays begin on Dec. 17.

Second semester registration is set for Jan. 10-11 and the school year ends May 15 with graduation.

"We have studied this plan and find that the few colleges and universities in the Carolinas who have switched to this schedule have noted an improved academic program," stated Dr. Poston.

Some of the schools now on this calendar include Phiffer, Clemson University, Winthrop in Rock Hill, the University of South Carolina, and beginning this year, N. C. State University at Raleigh.

The calendar gives the same number of class hours for the first semester as are now attended under the old program, but an additional three class hours will be attended in the spring of 1966.

The calendar is: Aug. 25, 26, 27 and 28 registration, orientation, etc. Aug. 30, first classes, Oct. 21-22, mid term; Nov. 24-29, Thanksgiving holidays; Nov. 6, Homecoming; Dec. 11-17, final examinations. Second semester registration begins. Jan. 10-11 and classes resume Jan. 12. March 3-4 is mid-term, April 8-18 is for Easter holidays, final exams are set for May 7-13, Alumni Banquet, May 14, and graduation is May 15.

Club of Shelby, president of the Reader's Book Club, a member of the Mental Health Assoc. and other civic groups.

Royster is president of Royster Oil Co., Royster Transport Co. and several real estate firms and is an active member of the state's Mental Retardation Center. The large center in Goldsboro is named in his honor. He is a member of the Kiwanis, Masons, is married and has two children, David Royster and Mrs. James Taylor.

Top State Baptist Officials At Commencement

Gardner-Webb College graduates were told a "sin curtain between self and God is one of our ages' most dangerous learning, surpassing that of the Iron Curtain or the Bamboo Curtain."

Dr. Ford

the Baptist State Convention of N. C., told more than 70 graduating students

Dr. E. W. Price, Jr., pastor of the Green Street Baptist Church of High Point and president of the General Board of Baccalaureate Sermon to consider "help wanted" signs developing among the nations protestant churches.

Dr. Price

Dr. Price was joined at Gardner-Webb College by another convention official, Dr. Howard J. Ford, president of the convention and pastor of Wilmington's Winter Park Baptist Church. Dr. Ford brought the Literary Address during commencement exercises.

Speaking on "Christ and the Individual Person", Dr. Ford said in our complex age there is little hope of slowing the massive growth of government bureaus and even of church organizations but he challenged the graduates to remember "man's worth or else lose their precious freedoms."

In a morning address, Dr. Price spoke of the individual but in a different vein as Dr. Ford. He stressed the dangers signaled by a 36 percent decline in our colleges of students studying for fulltime Christian work, pointing out that although 1,800 missionaries are now on the field for Southern Baptists that 5,000 will soon be needed.

University and his M.S. Degree at George Peabody College for Teachers. He came to Gardner-Webb as public relations director in 1954, serving until 1960 when he assumed the editorship of Charity and Children, published by the Baptist Children's Home in Thomasville. It has a weekly circulation of 55,000 among N. C. Baptists.

The Courier is published in Greenville, S. C., and has a circulation of 80,000. Roberts began duties there on July 1. Dr. S. H. Jones, 65, has been editor of the paper for the past 17 years.

A native of Shelby, Roberts is a former Gastonia, N. C. school teacher and reporter for the Gastonia Gazette. He is married to the former Helen Elizabeth Goodwin, '48 and they have three sons and one daughter. Mrs. Goodwin's mother, Mrs. Maggie Goodwin, is a housemother at G-W.

While at Gardner-Webb, Roberts received the Faculty Achievement Award and was active in church and civic life of Boiling Springs and Shelby. He is a past president of the Alumni Association and a past president of the Southern Baptist Convention Public Relations Association.

John Roberts Is Appointed To New Post

John E. Roberts, former director of public relations at Gardner-Webb College, has been appointed associate editor and business manager of the Baptist Courier, official publication of the South Carolina Baptists.

John Roberts

Roberts, a 1949 graduate of Gardner-Webb, went on to earn his B.A. degree at Furman

DR. JAMES BLAINE DAVIS . . . HISTORY OF THIS FORMER PRESIDENT IS UPDATED

Dr. Davis

Dr. James Blaine Davis, first president of Gardner-Webb College, had for years dropped out of the history of the school which he headed in 1928-1930.

Search for a portrait of him to be added to those of other presidents led to one of Dr. Davis' sisters, Mrs. Stella Davis Nix of 137 Forest St., Spartanburg, S. C. She graciously secured a picture of Dr. Davis and filled in college personnel on Dr. Davis' activities since leaving the college.

Dr. Davis died at a son's home in Norfolk, Va., three years ago this past June 22. His task was a hard one as he seized the reins of Boiling Springs Junior College in its first two years of transition from high school to college status.

Boiling Springs Tops Its Goal

Surging past their $26,000 goal, Boiling Springs area campaign workers boosted Gardner-Webb's campaign for expansion and development beyond the $900,000 mark.

Area chairman, Jim Beason, saw his organization total $28,533 for three weeks work and become the first organization in Cleveland County to meet its goal. O. P. Hamrick, '11, was canvass chairman in the drive.

Before the campaign began $54,130 had come out of the Boiling Springs immediate area and $2,025 from Mooresboro. This money came from the campus community, advisors of the college, trustees of the college and special gifts persons who were solicited earlier. This puts the Boiling Springs, Mooresboro and Lattimore area on record for $84,688 given or pledged to the college since the first of January of 1965.

Some of the leaders among hundreds of workers were those on the Mooresboro team of Clyde Goforth, Jr., who collected 20 gifts for $2,815 and topped all other teams. Mrs. Rachel Huggins Hedrick, '38, of Boiling Springs headed a unit which raised $2,225. William K. Elliott, '51, of Boiling Springs was division chairman of the workers who raised a high of 72 gifts for $8,165.

A graduate of Mars Hill College, Wake Forest College, the University of North Carolina and Southwestern Baptist Theological Seminary, Dr. Davis came to the college from a pastorate at Henderson Street Baptist Church of Cleveland, Texas. Earlier he had been an instructor at N. C. State College and in 1919-1923 was an instructor at the Univ. of N. C.

His formal opening speech to 78 college students and 124 special and high school students appears today to be justified as Gardner-Webb enters a new era of expansion and development. Dr. Davis predicted the college would become "the educational center of Piedmont North Carolina."

History points out the hundreds of problems facing the new president. He wrestled with them for two years before resigning May 20, 1930. Dr. Zeno Wall of Shelby became the new president.

A pastorate at Buffalo Creek Baptist Church near Grover came next, followed by a call to a Baptist Church in Norfolk. Bob Jones University in Greenville, S. C., employed Dr. Davis as a professor until ill health forced his retirement. He lived until his death in 1962 with a son, W. J. Davis of 1115 Park Ave., South Norfolk, Virginia.

His other living sisters, other than Mrs. Nix, are Mrs. Flora Davis Riddle of 37 Elmwood Ave., Judson, Greenville, S. C., and Miss Lucy D. Davis of 10 Bobo St., Greer, S. C. James Blaine Davis, Jr. lives

JOHN R. DOVER, JR. FAMILY HONORS FATHER . . . CHAPEL NAMED IN HIS HONOR

Dr. E. Eugene Poston has announced a gift from the family of the late John R. Dover, Jr., to be applied to the construction of a religious activities chapel on the Gardner-Webb College campus.

The religious activities chapel, part of the proposed religious activities center for the college will be built in memory of John R. Dover, Jr., who served many years on the Gardner-Webb Board of Trustees and in other capacities of assistance.

As it is now proposed, the chapel will be the center for the religious activities of the campus. Dr. Poston said, "This is a big step toward the building of a visible symbol of the 'Extra Dimension.' We at Gardner-Webb have no center for the religious activities at the present time. The fundamental necessity for offering a strong education program has held priority and some of the gracious aspects of the college have had to be postponed. The time has come, however, to erect a visible symbol of the 'Extra Dimension' and the Religious Activities Chapel will be just that."

John R. Dover, III, acting on behalf of himself, his sister, Mrs. G. J. Vincent and his mother, presented the gift to the college through Dr. Poston. He remarked that his father had often told him of the many contributions Gardner-Webb College has made to the community and to his own life.

John R. Dover, Jr., attended Boiling Springs High School, forerunner of Gardner-Webb, in 1911 and was part of the school's growth from a high school to a junior college. He was chairman of the committee which selected Dr. Poston president to replace the retiring Dr. Philip Elliott. Dover was active in civic and church life of the community serving in many capacities. Among these was presidency of the Shelby Rotary Club and superintendent of the Dover Baptist Sunday School. He also served as chairman of the board of the Dover Textile Group.

F. B. Dedmond Marries; Will Teach At Catawba

Professor Francis B. Dedmond, who resigned this Spring to accept a position at

Mr. Dedmond

Catawba College, was married May 30 to the former Eris Arrowood Wilson, '61 of Caroleen. The wedding took place at the Boiling Springs Baptist Church, conducted by the Rev. T. Max Linnen and attended by only a few close friends.

The couple will be at home in Salisbury after August 1. Professor Dedmond was head of the Gardner-Webb English Department for 13 years.

At Catawba, he will be an associate professor of English and will specialize in American Literature, modern British and American literature and creative writing.

A native of Salisbury, Mr. Dedmond is a graduate of Catawba College, the Southern Baptist Seminary and has done graduate work at Duke University where he received his M.A. Degree. He also did graduate study at Columbia University, University of N. C. at Chapel Hill and additional work at Duke.

Debate and drama were headed by Dedmond at Gardner-Webb as well as the Program in the Arts. His debate teams were successful, twice being invited to the U. S. Naval Academy Tournament. One of his more noteworthy contributions to the college was the writing of "Lengthened Shadows", a history of Gardner-Webb from 1907-1957.

TWO FACULTY MEMBERS RETIRE

Mrs. Plaster

Two Gardner-Webb College faculty members have retired with the conclusion of the 1964-1965 school year.

Mrs. Ruth Howie (Hubert) Plaster organ teacher at the college for nearly 13 years and Mrs. Princa Gaines Moore, Latin instructor for five years, officially announced their retirement during graduation ceremonies.

Dr. Poston expressed "regret" at the loss of "two fine and capable faculty members who will be missed greatly as they retire from the teaching profession."

Mrs. Moore

For Mrs. Moore it is the second retirement in recent years having taught in Rutherford County Schools until the late 1950's and then coming out of retirement to teach five years of Latin at the college.

Mrs. Plaster, wife of Mayor Hubert Plaster of Shelby, has served as organist at the First Baptist Church of Shelby for 38 years. A native of Abbeville, S. C., Mrs. Plaster received her formal music training at Brenau College Conservatory in Gainesville, Ga. from which she earned a B. M. degree in music.

HUBERT C. DIXON HONORED As 'Alumnus Of The Year'

Mr. Dixon

A man who has taught at Gardner-Webb College for nearly half its 60 years was named "Alumnus of the Year" May 22 at the college's annual Alumni Banquet.

Hubert C. Dixon, head of the Science and Mathematics Department of the college, was cited for his work "in all angles of life" and became the eighth winner of this award.

Over 300 persons gathered at the banquet at which new officers were elected, the new movie about Gardner-Webb was shown and the "Alumnus of the Year" award given.

Outgoing president, Rev. Forrest Teague of Shelby presided and recognized returning members of the classes of 1911, 1916, 1926, 1931, 1936, 1941, 1946, 1951, 1956, and 1961 for reunion.

Felix Hamrick of Boiling Springs made the "Alumnus of the Year" award to Professor Dixon, a native of Kings Mountain where he graduated from high school. Following graduation from Gardner-Webb College, Dixon went on to complete work Magna Cum Laude at Wake Forest College. Later he earned his master's degree from the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill. Since then he has studied at Clemson University and in 1959 was awarded a scholarship for study at Florida State University.

His career at Gardner-Webb started in 1935 and since that time he has served as Dean of Men, Dean of the College, professor and now as head of the Science and Mathematics Departments.

Hamrick praised the work of Dixon on numerous committees vital to college life but said this angle of his life is only one of many. He went on to say Dixon served

ALUMNI OFFICERS—New officers of the Gardner-Webb College Alumni Association are, right to left, Dan W. Moore, Jr., '39, of Boiling Springs, president Mrs. Nancy Anthony Griffin, '53, of Boiling Springs, secretary-treasurer, and Taft S. Putnam, '54, of Shelby. Other officers elected were Rudy Wardell, '51, of Union, S. C., Billy G. Beason, '57, of Conover and Mrs. Betty Wise Bates, '54, of Kings Mountain, all directors and Mrs. Ruth Wacaster Toms, '35, of Bostic was elected to the Committee on Endowment. They were elected May 22 during the annual Alumni Banquet at the college.

ADVANCEMENT OFFICE MEANS BUSINESS—A smiling Thomas McGraw, vice-president of Gardner-Webb, holds his twin girls, Meloni and Mitzi, just a few weeks after their birth on June 2. While Mr. McGraw's major Concern these days is expansion and development of the physical facilities of the college, he is happy about helping the admissions office with these prospective students for 1983-84. The McGraws have one other daughter, Cindy, 10 years of age. Meloni weighed five pounds, 12 ounces and Mitzi, four pounds and 10 ounces at birth. Mrs. McGraw is the former Bettye Falls '49.

from 1943-1946 as a Naval Lieutenant, in the Boiling Springs Baptist Church as a Deacon, Sunday School Superintendent and other capacities and in the Lions Club as president of the Boiling Springs Club. In the larger field of Lions Club work Dixon was an International Counselor and has been Zone Chairman and District Governor. In 1962 he was presented a plaque for outstanding service.

Married to the former Lucile Johnson, he has one daughter, Jean.

"Uppermost in the life of our friend is the angle of the master teacher," Hamrick said, "Around the world there are thousands of men and women who have been his students whom he has inspired and challenged," concluded Hamrick.

The 1963 yearbook of the college was dedicated to Dixon for his work with the college despite many opportunities to move into positions at larger universities.

in Florida and Dr. Davis has a brother living in Texas.

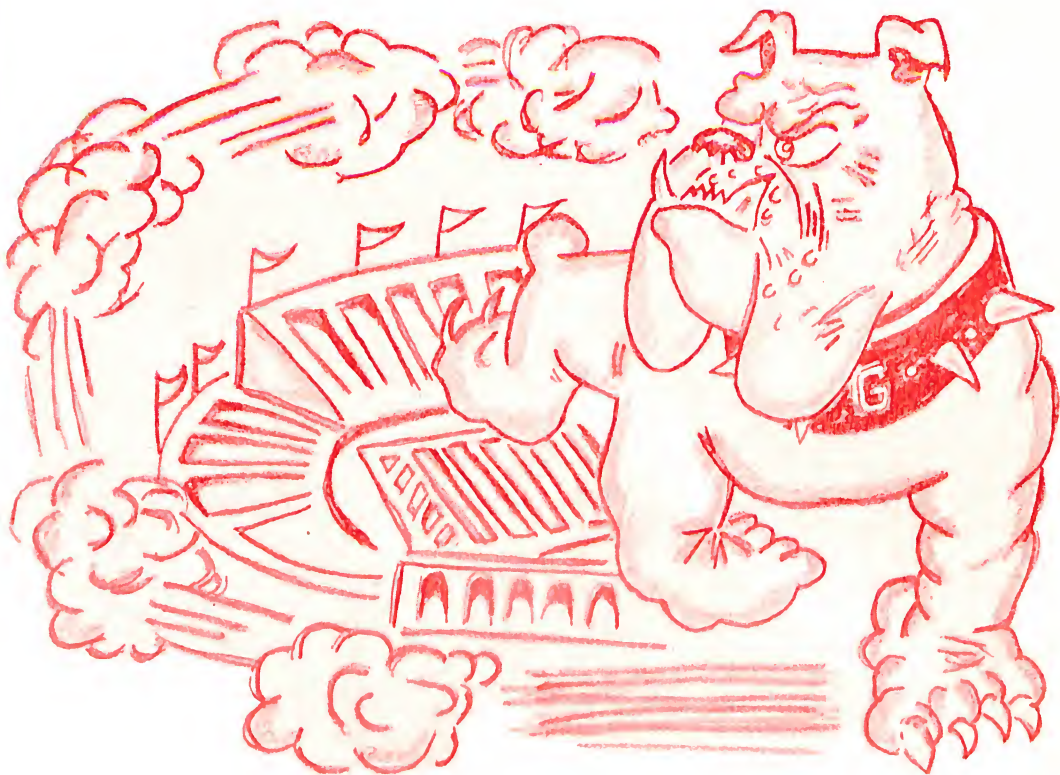

Mrs. Nix writes, "We will appreciate a record of J. B.'s labors as he worked his way through college by teaching mathematics, Bible and Greek. He worked hard all his life and was a good Christian man."

We at Gardner-Webb are especially grateful to Dr. Kirby of Gaffney, S. C., former pastor of the Cherokee Ave. Baptist Church and of the Green Street Baptist Church of Spartanburg, S. C. for his assistance in finding relatives of Dr. Davis.

What Is The Bulldog Club?

The Bulldog Club is a club, organized and maintained, as a "booster" organization for Gardner-Webb College athletics.

How Does One Join This Organization?

Any individual interested in supporting Gardner-Webb College's athletic program; and, in turn, in helping worthy student athletes, can become a member of the Bulldog Club. Three different membership plans are offered—individual membership $10.00; family membership $15.00; and Century Club membership $100.00. Any gift, no matter what amount, is welcome, however.

What Benefits Do I As A Bulldog Club Member Get?

As a member of the Bulldog Club—one of the three membership plans—you will receive a pass to all G-W athletic contests, and you will be eligible to attend the annual Bulldog Club-All Sports Banquet.

OUR PRESENT GOAL IS $5,000

We, the Bulldog Club, are going to raise $5,000 this year which will be matched with a like amount by the college. This total will enable us to double our present scholarship awards. At this time, we have a tremendous start by raising over $1,900.

We would now like to give the alumni an opportunity to participate!

HOW WILL MY MONEY BE USED?

At this time, we finance our athletic program from two sources: money received from college funds, and money received through donations to the Bulldog Club. The sum of $5,000 supports our entire financial aid program. One-half, or $2,500 of the total requirement is raised through Bulldog Club activity. The other one-half of the required amount is supplied by the college.

We give financial assistance to our athletes on an equal basis with regard to amount. Every man who earns a letter in one of the so-called major sports (football, basketball, and baseball) receives a cash award of $100.00. An athlete earns a letter by playing in one-half of the total quarters, or innings in the respective major sports.

In apportioning our scholarship money among the three major sports, we anticipate that about 25 men will earn a letter in football, 10 in basketball, and 12 in baseball. These awards total $4,700 of the allocated $5,000. We allow three $100.00 grants for sweater awards to those athletes who do not qualify for financial assistance. This $300.00 also allows us to meet our obligation should more men earn a letter than we had anticipated.

We do not give financial assistance to men who earn their letter in one of the so-called minor sports, track, tennis, and golf.

Student Center, Covering Of Pool Now Underway

Gardner-Webb College Trustees have let contract for construction of a $488,425 campus center to be known as the Charles I. Dover Campus Center. In other action, the Trustees let contract of $61,500 for the covering of the college swimming pool.

The campus center will be located on the former site of the Huggins-Curtis Building which burned in 1957. This building, equipped, architects' fee paid and furniture purchased, will cost a total of $538,425.

A dining room with a capacity of seating 560 persons at one time, a cafeteria kitchen, snack shop, bookstore, recreation area, post office, faculty offices, publications room, lounge and student government room will be major parts of the building.

The pool will be covered with steel and glass materials with the use of some brick at each end. The ceiling will have thermal skylights and the sides will be made up of sliding glass doors which can be opened for summer use.

Journalism Classroom Donated By Publisher

A Journalism classroom in a proposed new classroom building at Gardner-Webb College has been assured through a gift from D. A. Rawley of High Point, who is a member of the college's board of trustees.

Rawley, publisher of the "High Point Enterprise", in making the gift said he knew first hand the need for qualified personnel in the field of journalism and was proud that Journalism is a vital part of the curriculum at G-W.

"It is vital to education today that industries and business firms such as newspapers, chemical companies, textile firms and others take a vital interest in college programs through which their future employees are being trained," said Dr. Poston.

Awards Given During Commencement

James Arnold Blalock of Boiling Springs won the Sophomore Scholastic Achievement Award during graduation exercises in May. The award given by Rev. T. Max Linnens, '52, to the sophomore with the highest two year average, went to Blalock for an average of nearly 3.7. John P. Logan of Ellenboro won the Freshman Scholastic Scholarship of $100 for an average of 3.93.

Other winners of awards were: Ray Yarborough, Jr. of Granite Falls, the Huggins Citizenship Medal; Dianne Washburn of Lattimore, the Curtis Citizenship Medal; Lance Middleton of Kannapolis, the $150 scholarship awarded by Wake Forest College; Judy Cooke of Maiden the Suttle Bible Medal; Sarah Putman of Boiling Springs, the College Woman's Club Scholarship; and Nancy Lu Wright of Dobson, the Delta Kappa Gamma Scholarship given by the Alpha Epsilon Chapter.

Charlottean Donates $350,000 To G-W

A. T. Withrow, Charlotte real estate and businessman for the past 15 years, has given Gardner-Webb College 60 apartments valued at $350,000. The apartments are located in the Jackson Park section of Charlotte near the Douglas Municipal Airport.

Withrow, a long time supporter of the college and a member of its board of trustees, gave 30 of these apartments recently as a part of the college's campaign for $1,125,000 and gave the other 30 as an anonymous gift in 1960.

A graduate of Duke University in 1925 and a native of Rutherford County, Withrow has in the past set up a scholarship fund at Gardner-Webb and also has a $100,000 life insurance policy with the college made as the beneficiary.
